

Dinah

Dinah is a beautiful black cat who was in a house fire this March. She was presented to our emergency service by ACO while her family was transported and treated at the local hospital for smoke inhalation. Dinah was full of debris and also suffered from smoke inhalation. When she arrived to Mount Laurel Animal Hospital the soot was bathed off of her fur, and she was provided with oxygen in the critical care unit. There was such great improvement with her oxygen therapy over the two days spent in hospital that she was approved for discharge. We wish her family health and happiness during recovery from the fire.

The EMPATH PROJECT teamed up to cover a large portion of Dinah's medical expenses and help her family in need.
